Excerpt: . . . French, the States of Holland, and the King of England, and is to be kept at Cullin by their commissioners in Aprile. Mean while the Dutch are out at sea, and a great caping of English merchants from all arts by the Dutch pirots. --The parliament of England sat down February 5, 1673, where they allow the king a subsidie of 128, 875 lib. for carrying on of his warr; but are displeased with the indulgence given to the papists; particularly renews their former acts against papists, with all the penal statutes against them. Makes acts for removing them out of trust in the land, and acts for banishing the seminarie priests and jesuits out of Ingland and Ireland. Make acts also against other recusants, who did not submitt to the government and worship of the church of England. Aprile, 1673. The parliament of Ingland is adjurned to the 27th of October next, and great preparations there are made for warr. The late indulgence granted by the kings majesty to the outed ministers in Scotland, and confynment of them to such parishes in Clydsdale, Baronthrough, Irwin, Air, and Galloway, does not at all relish with some of the brethren, as savouring to much of Errastianism, yet others were satisfied to goe to their confynments, and to preach in these places appointed by the states. There were some purposes amongst the brethren of the ministrie to represent the grivances of the indulgence and confynement unto...
