Excerpt: .490 acres to let. -The rise in the price of our quartern loaf is singularly unwelcome in London, though I should not wonder at seeing it higher before winter is past. Millers find the position at present comparatively easy, with last year s enormous reserve to draw on. With your consuming more and more of your home roduce, and with the harvest results in ussia still uncertain, there is much speculation in the trade, though nothing of the plunging of the Leiter wheat corner, which proved so disastrous here. At present there is only about four months supply in the country, notwithstanding that we have the whole of our own crops to deal with. Early millings of home grown are not turning out in any way satisfac to rily. It is evident that we shall have to look more to our colonial supplies in...
