His place of residence was Perry s Corner, previously called Stebbins Corner. Stephen Bay kept a tavern near the State line, west of Sharon Valley, in a stone house which he built. He was born in England. John Read, father of Charles and others, came from Redding, Conn., in 1804, and purchased the farm near Amenias Union, where the old stone house stands, and where he died in 1821. Mr. Read s father--Col. John Read--gave name to the town where he lived, which was then spelled Reading. The Reeds, of Amenias, were from Norwalk. In 1759. James Reed was one of a company of Connecticut troops, who passed through this town, * on their way to Canada, to the aid of General Wolfe in the conquest of Quebec. While on their way the company received news of the capture of Quebec, and were ordered to return. Mr. Reed was so pleased with the Oblong valley, through which he leisurely returned, that he induced his father, Mr. Daniel Reed, of Norwalk, to purchase for him some landt here, which he did where the late Philo Reed, son of James, resided till his death. The brothers of James Reed, who removed here a few years later, were Ezra, DEGREES who lived where Huldah Bump did, Elijah, who owned the farm which he left to his son, Elijah, Jun., and Eliakim, who settled where his grandson, Newton Reed, now resides Mrs....
